Personal memo from
JOSHUA LEDERBERG

Hon Richard Danzig

NOV - 7 1994

Anthrax adjuvancy — an unhappy thought.

Sparked by Turnbull's remark on variability of rabbit response.

It is more than likely on a priori grounds that the infectivity of airborne anthrax will vary with intercurrent respiratory inflammation.

I think there had been some "flu" in Sverdlovsk — no, that's wrong. See Matt's note.

Jim Burrows (NMRI) has more support for strain differences in virulence.

Our wargame put a lot of focus on the strategic role of BW. That's on top of the tactical.

Yours,

John.

(X) ... → 11/7/94

THE ROCKEFELLER UNIVERSITY NEW YORK 10021-6399